

Eastwick Knows

$\text{♩} = 100$ SOLO GIRL

Ev'-ry dawn. Ev'-ry sun-rise. May they find me in this town I call my home. In the park. In the school-yard. May the neigh-bour's watch-ful eye guide my steps as I walk by. Such a luck-y girl am I, you might sup-pose. Well, I am. You can

6

9

13 rall. A tempo

ask; East-wick knows.

LADIES

Hear the bells from the 24

steep-le. Is there a sweet-er way to start the day than this? See the town. Watch the 28

peop-le. Ev'-ry wink and ev'-ry stare is the neigh-bour-hood's af-fair. It just

31

shows how much we care when we pro-pose; For the good, for the best, East-wick

35

knows.

MEN

Some-times scan-dal stirs the breeze. Cur-tains shut, but 40

Gates may latch. Doors may close, but rest as-sured; East-wick

East-wick sees. Gates may latch. Doors may close, but rest as-sured; East-wick

45

SUKIE

JANE

ALEX

Ev'-ry day, just like clock-work, the

Ev'-ry day, just like clock work, the

knows.

knows.

53

world goes dan-cing by me once a - gain. But in a town such as East-wick. When you're

57

or mak-ing do, ev'-ry eye in town's on you. And so it
On your own ev'-ry eye in town's on you. And so it diff'rent through and through. ev'-ry eye in town's on you. And so it goes. Good or bad, right or wrong; East-wick knows.

60

67

27
Band Solo - Parade
(with military precision) CHORUS East-wick knows a sense of du - ty and de - vo - tion.

27
East-wick knows a sense of du - ty and de - vo - tion.

97

East-wick hears not a sing-le word of woe. East-wick sees past the East-wick hears not a sing-le word of woe. East-wick sees past the 100

hills be-yond the o-cean. East-wick knows all that East-wick needs to know.

hills be-yond the o-cean. East-wick knows all the East-wick needs to know.

104

Half time feel - più mosso

Look at me, I don't be-long here. Sad but true.

Look at me, I don't be-long here. Sad but true.

Look at me, I don't be-long here. Sad but true.

112

— Can't e-ven run cause there's no-thing else worth run-ning to. —

— Can't e-ven run cause there's no-thing else worth run-ning to. —

— Can't e-ven run cause there's no-thing else worth run-ning to. —

118

Who has the pow'r? Who has the pray'r?_

Who has the pow'r? Who has the pray'r_ I'd as the moon.

Who has the pow'r? Who has the pray'r?_ I'd ask the moon..._

124

I'd ask...If I thought the moon would care!_

— If I thought the moon would care!_

— If I thought the moon would care!_

Tempo primo

130

4 East-wick knows! What is - n't an - y-bod-y's bus'-ness.

4 East-wick knows! What is - n't an - y-bod-y's bus'-ness.

136

East-wick hears! And soon the stor - y's chang-ing hands. East-wick sees! What is - n't

East-wick hears! And soon the stor - y's chang-ing hands. East-wick sees! What is - n't meant for it to wit-ness. East-wick knows...But it nev-er un-der - stands As meant for it to wit-ness. East-wick knows...But it nev-er un-der - stands. As

139

144

flow-ers bloom, as bees will buzz, East-wick thrives as East-wick does, for East-wick is as flow-ers bloom, as bees will buzz, East-wick thrives as East-wick does, for East-wick is as 149

East-wick was and al-ways will be. East-wick shares. East-wick learns. East-wick

East-wick was and al-ways will be. East-wick shares. East-wick learns. East-wick

154

cares for your con - cerns. Heed the tides, Mind the throes. East-wick sees.

cares for your con - cerns. Heed the tides, Mind the throes. East-wick sees.

159

East - wick knows!

East - wick knows!